Utilization of Mineral Springs and Seawater

Many Greek spas are located near natural mineral springs or the sea, where the therapeutic properties of mineral-rich waters are essential to treatment protocols. These waters are believed to enhance skin health, relieve muscle tension, and improve circulation.

Incorporation of Native Botanicals

Greek health spas integrate indigenous herbs and plants such as lavender, sage, chamomile, and thyme into their treatments. These botanicals are used in oils, scrubs, and infusions to promote healing and relaxation naturally.
