Eligibility Criteria for KSU Deans List

The KSU Deans List recognizes students who excel academically during a semester. To qualify, students must meet specific requirements set by Kennesaw State University. These criteria are designed to ensure that only those who demonstrate exceptional performance are acknowledged. Understanding these eligibility standards is essential for students who aspire to be named on the Deans List.

Minimum Credit Hours

Students must be enrolled in a minimum number of credit hours during the semester to be considered for the Deans List. Typically, this minimum is set to ensure that students are engaging in a full or nearly full course load, reflecting consistent academic effort across multiple subjects.

Grade Point Average (GPA) Requirement

The primary determinant for KSU Deans List eligibility is the student's semester GPA. A high GPA threshold is established to distinguish students who have achieved superior grades. Generally, the required GPA is at least a 3.5 on a 4.0 scale, but this may vary slightly depending on university policies.

Good Academic Standing

In addition to GPA and credit hour requirements, students must be in good academic standing with the university. This means they should not be on academic probation or suspension and must comply with all academic regulations and conduct codes.

Selection Process and Academic Requirements

The selection process for the KSU Deans List is systematic and occurs at the end of each academic term. The process involves the evaluation of student academic records by the university's Office of the Registrar. Understanding how this process works can help students track their progress and anticipate their eligibility status.

Evaluation of Semester Grades

After final semester grades are submitted, the Registrar's office reviews all student records. Students who meet the established credit and GPA criteria are automatically identified for inclusion on the Deans List.

Official Notification and Publication

Once selected, students are typically notified through their university email or academic portal. Additionally, the list of qualifying students may be published internally within the university community as a form of public recognition.

Repeat Eligibility

Students can earn placement on the KSU Deans List multiple times throughout their academic career. Consistently achieving this recognition demonstrates sustained academic excellence.

Benefits of Being on the KSU Deans List

Making the KSU Deans List carries several important benefits that extend beyond immediate academic recognition. These advantages contribute to a student's academic profile, motivation, and future opportunities.
